

A Closed Mind

*PROF. HAZARA SINGH**

Closed mind is compared to a stagnant pond
Hedged by inhibitions latently destructive
Weeded with notions implanted by ignorance
Resists change, required with march of time.

Closed mind is like a dwelling, dark and dingy
That admits not fresh air and necessary light
Thus accepts not that change is law of nature
Takes pride instead in primitive ways of life

Closed mind is cradled by sectarian beliefs
Hence adheres to customary taboos and rites
Objects stubbornly to all progressive moves
Braggs often of his chequered fanatical past.

Rejects concepts of equality and brotherhood
Brands human beings as infidels or believers
Divides them on the basis of birth and colour
Decries those not accepting the imposed norms.

The fanatics guide by edicts a closed society
Arson and carnage are their strategic designs
Human rights are alien to their genocide game
Foes of mankind as well as of universal peace.
