He called Angad before him
His voice softened as he spoke
The time has come for that journey
To fill the longing of my soul
I place this Crown of Light upon you
Spread the Name of the Lord

Chorus:

Carry the song of Nanak
Across land and sea
Spreading the love of Nanak
His words of praise unto Thee
His body lay there quietly
As the question came to be
Should we burn or should we bury him
Neither side found their peace
A shower of flowers fell from heaven
Bringing truth to their eyes
His Spirit rose like an eagle
Soaring into God's skies

Chorus

Like his Guru before him
He opened hearts to the Lord
And his eyes beamed like sunlight
Piercing into their souls
His words they live forever
Wisdom untouched by time
And as they reach now the western lands
They bring joy to our minds
